Tigers Clash With Unbeaten Mayfield Here Friday Night

Contenders For West Kentucky Championship Vie With Butler Squad; Providence Loses 0-13

Butler Tigers, defeating Providence 13-0 last week, will face Mayfield Cardinals, rated second strongest State high school team, here Friday night. Mayfield has a clean slate this season, five straight wins placing them in the West Kentucky Conference championship race.

Last Friday the Cardinals defeated Hopkinsville Tigers 10-7 after trailing the first half of the game. With the score knotted 7-7 in the final quarter, the Cardinals won with a field goal.

Mayfield Asks For 200 Reserved Seats

Mayfield High School's athletic department telephoned long distance Tuesday requesting that 200 seats be reserved for football supporters of the Cardinal football team, for the game to be played at Butler Stadium Friday night. J. H. Pressler, president of the Jaycees, sponsoring ticket sales for all home games, said the reservation would be made. Other Mayfield fans will take their chances with general admission tickets, he said.

Butler will go into the game with Mayfield rated the underdog, a condition that seems to bring out fight and determination in the local squad.

Coach Tip Downing's squad showed signs of overconfidence at Providence before they began a driving attack in the last half to win the game. This week, facing a stronger team, the squad will be on their toes and alert to seize any opportunity for victory.

Last year the locals lost to Mayfield 28-14, but had the best of the contest for the first three quarters. The Cardinals may find even harder going this season.

Tigers Win 13-0 With 4th Quarter Attack

Butler Tigers began to click against the Providence High School eleven in the final quarter of the game at Providence last Friday night for a 13-0 win. Don Morgan, sparkplug of the Butler backfield, making the two touchdowns.

The Tigers fumbled on the first play of the game, the ball going to the Providence side, where it was kept much of the first half.

In the second period Providence drove for a first down on Butler's 3-yard. The Tiger line held for four downs and averted the touchdown threat.

The local eleven took the offensive and began to move the ball in the third quarter, making several first downs.

Beginning a strong drive in the final period, the Tigers took the ball on their own 20 and pushed it to midfield, where Morgan broke loose and carried it to Providence's 3-yard stripe. Morgan rushed it over on the next play for the first touchdown. His pass to Fred Taylor, end, was completed for the extra point.

A minute later Morgan made a 50-yard punt return for the final touchdown, the score standing 13-0 at the end.

Coach Downing said the squad was overconfident and was outplayed much of the first half before the ground-gaining offensive began in the second.

Cobb Storekeeper Is Hale And Hearty At 94

S. C. Sizemore, hale and hearty Cobb storekeeper and farmer who recently celebrated his 94th birthday, told a Leader reporter last week he attributed his long life to "hard work".

He said he was too young to be in the Civil War, but his father and brothers fought in it, and he could sit on his porch in the Cobb community where he was born, and hear guns at Ft. Donaldson, Tenn.

Born in 1853, Mr. Sizemore is a son of the late Atha Sizemore and Rebecca Goodwin Sizemore. His wife, the former Francis Rogers, has been dead 31 years. Their three children are Mrs. Florence Hicks, Russellville, and William Elbert and Jessie Lee, of the homestead. He has five great-grandchildren, four grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren.

While asking one of his sons other questions about the storekeeper, Mr. Sizemore interrupted by saying, "Don't spoil it—I fixed it up mighty pretty". Mr. Sizemore added that he had been a Leader subscriber the last 75 years, and enjoyed every word of it.

Ancl Vinson, chairman of the Caldwell County Soil Conservation District, announced Wednesday the local district had received a $1,058 check from the State Division of Soil and Water Resources to be used for the purchase of soil conserving equipment.

According to Mr. Vinson, each district in the State receives from the State Division an outright grant of $500 plus an additional amount dependent on the number of acres of farm land in the county, on provision that an equal amount will be raised locally. The Caldwell county group will add $558 subscribed locally to the State grant, making $1,616 available for purchase of equipment by the County District.

Mr. Vinson further stated that the local district had bought or was attempting to buy 3 disc plows, hydraulic cylinders, a disc harrow, a scraper and a tractor.

The equipment will be used by farmers in the county who will be expected to pay a minimum rental charge to take care of operation, maintenance and replacement costs. As soon as arrangements have been completed for use of equipment the plan will be announced.

With Mr. Vinson on the Board of Supervisors are: Porter M. Sell, Donald Roberts, W. Pollard Oldham, and James G. Neal.

A. P. Cook Reports For New Naval Duties

Lt. Cmdr. Allen P. Cook, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Cook, 311 N. Harrison street, has reported to the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., for duty in the executive department. Lt. Cmdr. Cook is a graduate of the Naval Academy Class of 1940.

Injured In Fall

Mrs. Elzie Hyde is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lula Brannan, 514 W. Main street, suffering from a sprained hip and back she received Saturday night, when she fell at her home at Lamasco.

Undergoes Appendectomy

Mrs. Sam Buchanan will return today from Jennie Stuart Hospital, Hopkinsville, where she underwent an appendectomy Tuesday, Oct. 14. Her condition is reported satisfactory.

A committee headed by Mrs. J. B. Lester, Mrs. Rumsey Taylor, Joe Wilcox and James McCaslin is being organized to make a house to house solicitation of votes for the new hospital, starting this work next Thursday and continuing through Monday, Nov. 3, Mr. Simmons said.

Letters are being mailed to the 3,000 persons who have made cash donations totalling $85,000 to the hospital fund, requesting that they let nothing prevent them voting for the bond issue, and asking that they urge their friends and neighbors to do the same.

Monday, Nov. 3, motorcades of Princeton business men will visit Cobb, Shady Grove, Fredonia, White Schoolhouse and probably other rural communities, accompanied by the Butler Band where road conditions permit, in an effort to arouse high interest in the bond issue question, Mr. Simmons said.

Members of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs have been asked to work at the voting precincts in Princeton election day, requesting voters to favor the new hospital when they cast their ballots.

Letters have been sent to members of the county's Homemakers' Clubs asking them to work at the polling places in rural communities. The same request has been sent also to the individuals who aided with solicitation of funds during the financial campaign in the county, the chairman stated.

Princeton ministers and those who serve rural churches will be requested to make appeals from their pulpits Sunday, Nov. 2, for votes for the hospital bond issue.

Princeton Jaycees have purchased time on Radio Station WCIF, Madisonville, for spot announcements about the hospital bond issue daily from now until the election.

Mr. Simmons said he is having difficulty explaining to some inquirers that the tax necessary to pay off the bond issue is only 10 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation . . . and not 10 cents on each $1. He said the average taxpayer will never notice the increase in his payments, so small is the levy necessary for the health facility.

Makes GOP Mean Give Out Promises

Candidate Dummit is frantically trying to create the impression that he can win and is promising all things to all the people", the Democratic leader said.

"What Dummit promises is impossible for any Governor to perform and the GOP nominee must know this", the statement concluded.

Dr. Donovan Faces Facts About University's Future

To any visitor on the University of Kentucky's campus these days, the needs of that institution, so graphically discussed in a brochure we have just received from Dr. H. L. Donovan, president, are at once apparent. In this case, seeing is truly believing.

Dr. Donovan's booklet bears on its front cover, in large type, this message: You cannot have a great state . . . without a great university.

This fact, while plain to many of us, should be brought home to as many Kentuckians as possible before the General Assembly convenes early in January, 1948 . . . and then the legislators should be taken to the University's campus, forcibly if need be, so they may see for themselves how urgent is the need for much larger appropriations, at once.

More than 7,600 young men and women, constituting the cream of the State's most important crop, are matriculated in the University now, with others clamoring to gain admission. Army barracks, Quonset huts, private homes and dormitories are bulging and emergency housing is crowded close against permanent buildings on the campus and on the Experiment Station farm . . . and still there is no room for many who seek to gain needed education at U. K.

Dr. Donovan's booklet shows a map of Kentucky and the neighbor states which touch her borders, giving figures which should shame every Kentuckian regarding how we and they are providing for state universities. Here are the figures: U. of Illinois, $28,039,275; Ohio State U., $18,816,350; Indiana U., $6,689,673; Purdue U. (also in Indiana) $6,670,353; U. of Missouri, $6,658,825; U. of Tennessee, $6,073,000; U. of Virginia, $5,805,588; U. of West Virginia, $5,660,000; U. of Kentucky, $2,967,675.

Dr. Donovan's proposed budget for 1948-49 calls for total appropriations to the University of $6,627,704, and for 1949-50, of $6,743,108. This is probably much less than the educational institutions of our neighbor states will ask for and obtain, as their needs have gone up in the same ratio as have those of UK and their legislators, accustomed to providing adequately in the past, may be expected to vote money for their universities more generously than ours.

Caldwell county folk have more sons and daughters at the University this autumn than ever before in history. These youngsters, as they visit their homes here, will bear witness to the great needs at the Lexington institution. It cannot do its job well for them, or for the countless thousands who will desire to obtain higher education at their own State University in the years ahead . . . unless a great deal more money is provided to meet essential requirements.

From July 1, 1946, through June 30, 1947, Dr. Donovan's brochure says, 39 faculty members (12 percent of the staff) resigned to accept better paying positions elsewhere. Because of inadequate funds, and the old constitutional limitation on salaries, Kentucky cannot compete for university instructors, nor can she retain them.

The able, energetic and consecrated president of the University of Kentucky has come here more than once, expounding the doctrine of a greater Kentucky through a better university. He has shown us, and many here understand now, that the State of Kentucky is the campus of the University.

Let us help this splendid Christian educator, devoted as he is to lifting Kentucky upward by a better, finer service in education at our State University. Let us talk with our representatives and State senators, before they go to Frankfort in January, and urge them to do their utmost to see to it that Dr. Donovan and the U. of Kentucky receive the financial aid they need, and so richly deserve.

Governor Willis Speaks Truly

That the people suffer . . . and all may expect disappointments, whenever the Chief Executive is of a different political persuasion from that of a majority of the members of the Legislature, was the testimony of Gov. Simeon S. Willis when he took the air recently, ostensibly to speak over a State-wide radio hook-up for the Republican nominees.

The Governor made another political blunder. He lowered his dignity and descended to a rather common plane, by answering a newspaper reporter's charge that he broke his campaign pledges.

Allan Trout, political reporter for the Courier-Journal, said in an article he wrote for his paper that the Governor had made "irresponsible" promises as a candidate and that Eldon S. Dummit, present GOP gubernatorial nominee, has followed the Willis example by "promising the 18,000 school teachers an average cash bonus of $1,555 each, if he is elected."

The Governor spent the radio time allotted him to forward the cause of Dummit and the other Republican nominees in airing his personal grievances. He took the defensive, always a blunder in politics, football and war, and made an excellent speech . . . from the Democratic point of view. If he mentioned Mr. Dummit's name once, it was not noted in press dispatches reporting the Willis radio address.

The people of Kentucky may draw their own conclusions from this, and doubtless will.

It seems to us however the inescapable fact is that when Kentucky has a Legislature that is overwhelmingly Democratic, as it is already determined it will be in 1948, the people suffer if they fall into the error of electing a Governor of another political faith, as Governor Willis testified the other night.

Pennyrile Postscripts By G. M. P.

Most of his friends know Dr. C. F. Engelhardt is an ardent fisherman but not many are aware that he has another quite different hobby . . . his roses. The other day this out-of-doors sportsman showed his pet project to Pennyrile, and it really is something.

More than 100 varieties of roses, some of them among the most beautiful I have ever seen, are in two long beds in the lot next to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Engelhardt, S. Jefferson street. They are sprayed each 10 days, Doc says, and pruned as needed, "leaving seven eyes" of that year's growth.

Pennyrile is grateful to several of Dorothy's regular customers for their kindness to him the last two weeks as he has tried to take up the slack . . . while our efficient gal advertising solicitor took to the rural districts in a not-too-frequent visit among our county subscribers. We have managed, through the cooperation of these advertising customers, to hold volume up pretty well . . . while Doc has done fine with renewed and new subscriptions.

Howard York, livestock wire the Jaycees had in all Kentucky a short time back, has become an "Exhausted Rooster" . . . due to having attained the ripe age of 36. He now becomes an associate member . . . and will always be held in highest esteem by those who worked with him in achieving some fine goals . . . and bringing considerable excellent publicity to Princeton, State-wide.

From the Office Cat column in the Hopkinstown New Era, one of the most interesting such features published in Kentucky, we borrow the following:

Food For Thought
If it's ever my misfortune
To have to watch my diet,
I hope that I can do it
Without boring people by it.

Effect Of Funnies
Although I am not hungry
And dinner is just through,
When Dagwood makes a sandwich,
I feel I want one, too.

Mrs. M. E. Foust.
With the coming into State Democratic Headquarters of Adron Doran and Smith Broadbent, Jr. assuming active roles in the campaign, certainty of First District Democrats rolling up a larger majority in the general election November 4 than the Gibraltar has recorded in some years became apparent.

Doran, past president of the Kentucky Educational Association and long-time friend and business associate of Harry Lee Waterfield, was assistant State campaign chairman for the Clinton Democrat, who lost to Earle Clements in the primary. Doran

DAR Is Vigilant For Communists

By Jane Eads
Washington — The Daughters of the American Revolution say they may have a few Communists in their ranks but that they are "trying to weed them out." The society also has a few "ultra liberals" or "fellow travelers," its top officers revealed at a press conference held by Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne, newly installed president general.

Mrs. Grace Brosseau of Greenwich, Conn., new editor of the DAR magazine, said she perfers Communists to fellow travelers or ultra liberals.

"At least," she confided, "you know where the Communist stands. Those ultra liberals and fellow travelers . . . I could sink them."

Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, of Athens, Ga., immediate past president, said they never let fellow travelers in "if they see them first."

Mrs. Brosseau said that to date only one member has been expelled from the DAR for alleged subversive activities. She is said to have distributed pamphlets that were "against the principles of the DAR."

Mrs. Brosseau went on to explain that it would "take a lot" to have a member expelled from the society.

Mrs. O'Byrne, who was in town from Brookville, Ind., to preside over the society's fall board meetings, said that one of the main projects this year is to round up about 42,000 new members to bring the total number of daughters to 200,000.

Mrs. Talmadge said that requisites for membership are desirability and eligibility. She explained that the national society did not define desirability . . . that actually the admission of a candidate depends upon the decision of individual chapters.

highest esteem. He is a past president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, an exponent of progress on Kentucky's farms. His work as coordinator for the Democrats in the First district will without doubt have the effect of drawing many to the polls who otherwise might have been negligent about voting.

Henry Ward, political columnist for the Paducah Sun-Democrat, in the metropolis of the Purchase, said recently in his column that the First "will give a considerably larger Democratic majority than the 11,300 Lynter Donaldson received in 1943."

Four White Horses and A Brass Band, by Violet McNeal (Double-day; $2.75)

The medicine show, the pitch and the pitchman, the "mind reading," the nickel ointment or salve or colored water or snake oil that sold for a dollar and made hair grow, guaranteed longevity, restored virility, and cured consumption, rheumatism, corns, eczema, ringworms, tape-worms, constipation, catarrh, bile, ulcers, indigestion, and pyorrhea . . . those old days of the torchlight stand on the corner, the expert spiel, the quick sales and the sometimes quicker getaway are recalled in this autobiography.

At 16, the author ran away from a farm home to St. Paul, got a job with an opium-smoking pitchman and for 10 years lived an incredible life among the quacks who milked the public. Her man eventually killed himself, and after a terrible struggle she gave up opium. It's one of the few books about the start of the century that is not nostalgic.

How Pasteurized Milk Safeguards Your Family's Health

Pasteurized milk is not boiled or cooked. It is scientifically heated to a temperature of 143 degrees Fahrenheit, according to State Board of Health regulations, and kept at this temperature for 30 minutes. This destroys all harmful bacteria and does not affect the taste.

The illustrative thermometer chart (above) shows the pasteurizing temperature and the particular temperatures at which harmful and deadly germs are killed. Maintenance of this 143 degree temperature is necessary to permanently obliterate the germs.

Two-Year Colleges May Be Answer

The development of two-year college programs is receiving new impetus as a result of the over-crowded conditions of the four-year colleges and universities. It will be interesting to see how much they will relieve the present overcrowding in the larger institutions of learning throughout the country.

It is possible that more two-year or junior colleges will provide the answer to the present shortage of institutions of higher learning. While it is true that since the war, the unprecedented enrollment has been due in large measure to the trek of veterans to colleges and universities to take advantage of the opportunity afforded them to obtain an education under the G. I. bill, there is every indication that young Americans will continue to go to college in record numbers for many years to come, hence the need for a long range program is apparent.

The increased number of regular students, coupled with expanding programs for adult education, make it clear that present facilities will never again be adequate, nor is construction of new classrooms, dormitories and laboratories going forward at a sufficiently rapid rate.

Recently when a former governor of Virginia, C. W. Darden, Jr., was inaugurated president of the University of Virginia, he listed as a principal project the establishment throughout the state of two-year colleges which would perform a sort of "screening" job for the universities.

In general the highest mortality rate among college students occurs in the first two years. In some instances as many as 40 percent drop out of school in that period. Some, of course, fail for lack of aptitudes. Others find that they have not the desire to continue further.

Junior college programs have met with success in various places in the postwar period. In many cases it has not been necessary to establish new institutions. Pennsylvania State College, for example, has been "farming out" its freshmen to colleges that could handle them. This has eased the strain at the higher levels.

Experience thus far has shown that the two-year college course serves a definite need among high school graduates. Its possibilities should be fully explored by educators in this state. Years ago the Kentucky legislature made statutory provision which permits junior colleges in cities of the second class to be established and maintained through tax money, but of the six municipalities in this class only Paducah and Ashland have taken the step.

More communities should be encouraged to do so, probably through some form of state aid. Owensboro is greatly in need of such an institution, but at the moment the board of education is compelled to tax property owners to the constitutional limit to maintain the common school system.

Each grower of livestock should try to feed as little grain as possible during the existing food emergency.

There are few farmers who cannot cut the amount of grain needed to grow good marketable livestock by a little better planning of their feeding and pasture program, particularly winter pastures. When grain is saved through the use of good improved pastures it usually means more profits for the grower.

It has been found that an acre of good pasture is equivalent to approximately 50 bushels of corn. Good winter pastures of wheat, balbo rye, barley, etc., will cut materially the amount of grains and concentrates needed.

A special effort to get all cultivated land seeded to winter cover crops should be made. This cover crop may be utilized profitably as winter pasture, a nurse crop for grasses or a green manure crop turned under in the spring.

More Burley Used To Make Cigarettes

Sixty percent of Burley tobacco now goes into cigarettes, compared to about 2 percent 30 to 40 years ago, says the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington.

The type of Burley has changed from heavy-bodied red tobacco to lighter-colored and lighter-bodied leaf. Along with these changes in production and consumption have come decided changes in price relationships between grades, the Station says in its annual report.

"The general result of these changes in price relationship," it is stated, "is that the prices of light-bodied grades, which are of use in cigarettes, have moved closer together, while prices of the grades used more generally in chewing tobacco have held or increased their difference."

crops are necessary balbo rye is generally agreed to be the most dependable and will usually furnish more pasture than the other small grains.

Old pasture fields with fair to poor stands of grass may be seeded to balbo rye or wheat. This may be done by disking lightly with the disk set almost straight and weighted heavily so that the grass which is already there won't be disturbed too much.

Mr. Glen Farmer harvested 77½ bushels of corn an acre from 26 acres this year in spite of the drought. The corn received an application of 1,000 pounds an acre of complete fertilizer and was planted 10 to 12 inches apart in the row with the rows 40 inches apart.

Progress Made By McCracken 4-H'ers

Joe Hurt, farm agent in McCracken county, reports on profits made by 4-H'ers on corn, a calf and rabbits.

"Billie Boldry, 4-H'er in the Heath community, showed in his completed record book that he made a net profit of $81.30 on an acre of corn. By using six loads of manure and $16 worth of commercial fertilizer on hybrid corn, he grew 80 bushels to the acre, while the average yield in his immediate section is 25 bushels an acre.

"Virginia Childress, Milan 4-H'er, reported a net profit of $97.04 from feeding a high-grade Shorthorn calf from Jan. 14 to Sept. 1. The calf weighed 940 pounds at the age of 13½ months when it was marketed. She fed it crushed corn largely, but added some soybean meal and oats in addition to short pasture.

"Alton Yates, Lone Oak, reported a net gain of $28.33 from his rabbit. From Feb. 3 to Aug. 10, he raised and sold 95 rabbits for an average profit of 30 cents after all expenses were paid."

U. K. Research Benefits All, Donovan Says

Lexington, Oct. 21 — Every Kentuckian benefits from research at the University of Kentucky, President H. L. Donovan declared in a recent statement regarding the value of the institution to the people of the State.

Some of the ways:

1. Tobacco varieties resistant to root rot increase the income of Kentucky farmers by millions of dollars each year.
2. Tobacco low in nicotine content, the result of 14 years of research by U. K. specialists, is now ready for extensive production.
3. Improved methods of construction for homes, mines, highways, and industries are being developed in the University's engineering laboratories.
4. New teaching materials prepared in the Sloan Experiment Laboratory are being tried out in Kentucky schools as a means of increasing effectiveness of education.
5. Methods of preparing and preserving food are being improved constantly by U. K. home economists for Kentucky home-makers.
6. New uses for coal are being developed and demonstrated in the University's new coal research laboratory.
7. Improved air transportation is being achieved through aeronautical research.
8. Information about diseases of man, animals, and plants is being discovered by means of an electronic microscope on loan to the University.

They also won $200 in cash prizes. Henderson county had the champion exhibit of five calves, and 11 calves were graded in the blue-ribbon class. Selling price for the Henderson calves was around 31 cents a pound.

At the Purchase district 4-H fat cattle show at Fulton, Charlene Birney of Ballard county won the grand championship on a Shorthorn calf. It sold for 45 cents a pound to Sam Reed of Fulton county, who is planning to show it at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. A Hereford owned by Duane Williams of Fulton county was reserve champion.

39 Ky. Veterans Get Automobiles

A total of 390 disabled veterans of World War II in Kentucky had received automotive vehicles at government expense by October 1, under the "autos for amputees" law, Veterans Administration Regional Office here reported today.

Total cost was $619,746, or an average of $1,589 per vehicle. The law provides an automobile or other conveyance at a cost not to exceed $1,600 for any World War II veteran who lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs at or above the ankle as the result of service-incurred injuries.

Disabled veterans have until June 30, 1948, in which to apply for automotive vehicles at government expense under the present law. Application forms are available at all VA offices.

Kentuckian Keeps Track of Pocket Money For U.S.

Washington—(AP)—Uncle Sam keeps track of his pocket money—and his 22-billion dollar gold bank account—with the right-hand help of a chunky, young Kentuckian from Hodgenville.

F. Leland Howard, at 39, is assistant head of the 2,000 citizens who manufacture, safeguard and keep the books on American coins from the humble copper penny to the 20-dollar gold piece. Dr. Howard—he has a Ph. D. in economics from the University of Virginia—calls a woman "boss."

She is Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, first woman governor of a state (Wyoming) and now director of the United States mint. The two are responsible for the safety of tremendous gold reserves at Ft. Knox and other depositories and for the silver stowed away at West Point.

They see that enough pocket change stays in circulation, that old-model coins are replaced, that special medals are fashioned for Presidents, secretaries of the Treasury and military heroes.

It puzzles Dr. Howard somewhat that the mints of San Francisco, Denver and Philadelphia will turn out a mere 800,000,000 coins in 1947. Usually a prosperous year means a much larger output.

The Kentuckian guesses part of the answer may be that Americans are a little "pinched" and are reinforcing the nation's coin supply with nickels and dimes brought out of long-locked piggy banks.

Assistant mint director since 1938, Howard has seen quite a few old coins go and new ones come. He estimates an average coin issue's lifetime at about a quarter of a century, after which it grows too thin for hard wear.

"We don't try to keep records on a coin's lifetime," he holds a reporter. "When they begin to disappear—like the old dime before the Roosevelt dime—we put out a new model."

Where do old coins go? Dr. Howard says they are given by businesses to banks and by banks to the Treasury Department, which melts down what is left to make new money.

The war years gave the mint a busy time of it. Orders for the United States and for foreign countries ran into billions of coins.

Two of the few Americans who knew where the Teheran conference was to take place were mint officials who struck special copies of the Roosevelt presidential medal for the late President to give to Churchill, Stalin and others at the meeting. Dr. Howard learned of the nearness of V-E Day when he was ordered to fly to Europe to be ready to make an audit of captured German gold.

The young Kentucky official first came to the mint 13 years ago on a summer job. He had won his doctorate and was teaching during school months at the University of Virginia.

Beginning as an auditor, he rose to administrative assistant to Mrs. Ross after holding "almost every title in the office."

At 30, he was assistant director.

An ardent huntsman and fisherman, he's surrounded by an all-feminine family, his wife and three daughters, aged 14, 9 and 6.

Though he has not lived in the Bluegrass state since undergraduate day at the University of Kentucky, Dr. Howard still thinks of Kentucky as his home and likes to go back to Hodgenville for visits.

The Kentucky Society of Washington thinks it has found the perfect job for him in its official ranks this year—treasurer.

Your Electric Problems Are Our First Consideration

Since VJ-Day we have connected 22,165 new customers, 18,000 of whom were rural and urban residential users. Four out of ten new home customers were in rural areas. The use of electricity for household purposes has jumped 22 per cent since 1945. In the same period the average price per kilowatt-hour paid by these customers has dropped nearly 7 per cent.

To 19 Rural Electric Cooperatives we serve, we are furnishing 5,500,000 kilowatt hours a month against only 3,500,000 a month in 1945. Twice we have reduced our no-profit wholesale rate to the RECCs.

We view this record with some pride, but we admit with complete candor that we have not done as well as we had planned. We, like REA and other electric light and power companies, are severely handicapped by critical shortages of materials—such as wire, steel, transformers, etc.

In the border of this message we are trying to show a few of the problems confronting us. In some areas our service today is not up to KU standards because our year-to-year schedule of improvement of city distribution systems and reinforcement of transmission lines has been disrupted ever since Pearl Harbor . . . due to material bottlenecks.

Every possible weakness in the KU system is foreseen, and plans are made to correct it. We are taking advantage of every opportunity to improve our service. We will build and improve, extend and develop, enlarge and re-enforce as rapidly as the flow of materials permits. Our customers are our most urgent concern. Every customer, every applicant, every community, and every area will receive our full attention.

Kentucky Advised To Be Responsible For Rural Roads

Frankfort—Kentucky has been advised formally to assume responsibility for the maintenance and construction of rural roads. The recommendation was made by the Public Administration Service of Chicago which has just completed a three-month, $15,000 survey of the state's road program.

The PAS reported that counties take their road problems to the state rural road division with increasing frequency. If this continues, the state "will ultimately become the servant of the counties, spending a disproportionately large share of the road fund revenues on roads which are least important from the standpoint of general use," PAS said.

Under the present set up, "inefficient" county organizations won't improve and prospects are that "the many poor counties would become no wealthier," it declared.

The counties have jurisdiction over 47,000 miles of roads but spend only $2,500,000 of locally collected taxes on them. "Thirty-five percent of the total local expenditures for county roads is concentrated in 12 of the 120 counties, and 15 percent in 24

Rock Founded Claim

Szczecin, Poland—(AP)—Poles claim to have found new proof that this former German port city of Stettin was once a Slavic stronghold. Archaeologists recently excavated the walls of an ancient Slav fortress.

"The report said. The remaining 50 percent is thinly spread over the other counties. The report called for a new road tax system channeling county road revenues into the state for expenditure where most needed. A new long range road plan for the state would indicate where need is most critical.

The state's assumption of responsibility for all roads will require a new classification system of highways, legislation and a greatly expanded highway department, the report said.

But "there are several constitutional obstacles to the formation of an ideal highway program for the commonwealth," PAS said. These were listed as the prohibition against state aid to municipalities, the $5,000 salary limit and the restriction of certain office holders to one term.

About 500 copies of the report were given to the Highway Department and are being distributed to members of the General Assembly, county judges and highway-user groups.

'Love Herbs' Go Good With Lizards' Hearts

Johannesburg (AP)—(AP)—Natives on the Rand, in South Africa, are eager buyers for a consignment of new "love herbs" which have just arrived from the United States.

They mix the herbs with powdered lizards' hearts and claim that it is very effective. The concoction is used to make a man capable of holding the devotion of his wife so that he need not fear that she will run away while he is looking for a second wife.

Native medicine men are pleased with this addition to their stock-in-trade, but complain bitterly that there is a serious shortage of hippopotamus fat, used to keep bad luck away. The black market price of hippo fat has risen 200 percent to 50 cents an ounce.

Of every dollar taken in by the Illinois Central last year, 14 1/2¢ came from passengers. Some 54 million of them were sped to their destinations by trains which traveled a total of 11 million miles.

For this service, passengers last year paid an average fare of 1.9¢ per mile. This was one-third less than the average paid 25 years ago although operating costs nearly doubled in the same period.

Yet Illinois Central passengers have enjoyed ever better service. Today, fast, luxurious, streamline trains cover some 2,000 Illinois Central miles.

Finer service for passengers will continue to be basic Illinois Central policy. For we are determined to earn your continued friendship and patronage.

Clements' Program of Real Help to Schools -or Desperate Dummit's Promises?

THE GREAT OL' PROMISERS—Promises won't pay our teachers, build up our schools and teach our children. Kentuckians know to their sorrow there is no value to a promise made by a man who has completely reversed himself in two months!

The present Republican nominee for Governor has changed his mind so many times on the stump in the last few months that no one understands what he really proposes to do for education—if anything. For this reason they are now calling him Tweedledee Tweedle-Dummit.

THE GREAT NEED—Our children are Kentucky's greatest asset. They must be taught by well-trained and adequately-paid teachers. They must ride in busses that are safe, to buildings which are the best our citizens can afford. They have been kept waiting too long for decent equipment—while money piled up in the State Treasury and Republican stubbornness blocked action.

THE GREAT OPPORTUNITY—The Democratic program for the improvement of education in Kentucky is plain-spoken and straightforward—honest and consistent. In his opening campaign speech, at Morehead, Congressman Earle Clements, the Democratic nominee for Governor, said:

"The Republican nominee has frequently declared he was opposed to using any part of the unencumbered surplus in the State Treasury for the payment of teachers' salaries—retroactive or otherwise. Our party is committed to this appropriation for teachers' salaries, retroactive to the beginning of the present school year. The Republican candidate may or may not change his views. We shall not."

Why take a chance on more worthless promises?

• School funds cannot be distributed fairly.

Underwood Asks Demo. Team Work

Philip Stevens, county campaign chairman, presided at the meeting here Monday afternoon. Smith Broadbent, Jr., pledged his help in getting out the vote in Caldwell county and urged that all factional lines be forgotten in favor of a Democratic victory this year.

William L. Jones, county campaign chairman for Waterfield in the primary, spoke briefly saying he is now "just as hot for Earle Clements as he was for Harry Lee Waterfield." Marion Brown, George Pettit, Lee Cardin and other Waterfield aides in this county also were present and indicated they are going along wholeheartedly for Democratic victory.

Mr. Underwood stressed the fact that Kentucky is a Democratic state and that this election will have important bearing upon the presidential race in 1948. He said that while Mr. Dummit's speeches are attractive because he promises so much, his promises "must be discounted because, if he should be elected, he will have to deal with a heavily Democratic Legislature that won't let him make good his wild pledges."

On the other hand, Underwood said, Clements "must be cautious about promises because he knows he is going to be Governor and will be responsible. I think that's the way you farmers and business men want your Governor to be, careful in managing the State's affairs," he concluded.

Doran Says Demos. To Aid Teachers

Louisville —(AP)—Adron Doran, vice-chairman of the Democratic State campaign and former president of the Kentucky Education Association, said in a political address here Tuesday night that "the best interests of education and other departments of the government" could be served by election of Earle C. Clements as Governor.

"The concern of education," Doran said, "is whether the teacher will be paid the salary which will permit her to maintain professional dignity and satisfy her personal needs."

"Qualified teachers cannot be found unless the salary is large enough to attract them. The Democratic party, through its nominee for Governor, Earle C. Clements, is committed to a retroactive appropriation and an appropriation for each year of the biennium 1948-50 as large as revenue and funds in hand and in sight will justify."

Doran said he questioned the "motive and ethics" of three high officials of the Willis administration at Frankfort in organizing a company to sell equipment and supplies to schools and State hospitals.

The speaker also said the Republicans have "no right to claim credit for the increased appropriations over the last 4 years."

"The increase to education came about through the leadership of a Democratic General Assembly," Doran said.

Health Officers Warn Of Typhoid

Pursuant to a warning issued by State health authorities, the Caldwell County Health Department is increasing its efforts to secure protection against typhoid fever and other water-borne diseases.

"During a drought it is necessary for many persons to procure their water from other than the usual source," Dr. W. L. Cash, director, County Health Department, said this week. "Frequently the new source has inadequate protection and, in many instances, is contaminated. When the drought is broken by rain, water supplies may be contaminated by surface water entering the supply."

A number of water specimens have been submitted to the State laboratory by Robert S. Jacob, county sanitarian, Dr. Cash said, any many of them have been found contaminated.

"All contaminated water supplies should be treated to prevent dissemination of diseases," Dr. Cash advised, "as well as observing other precautions. No typhoid has been reported in this county. Pure drinking water and immunization will contribute to maintenance of this condition."

Mrs. Joyce Ramage, health nurse, visited schools of the county in an immunization program against typhoid and diphtheria.

The County Health Department advises immunization of children before they are 1 year old. Immunizations may be given by any physician or by the county health office.

Recipe Of Week

There are several reasons why a 5 to 6 pound chicken is usually an economical purchase, notes Miss Florence Inlay, specialist in foods at the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The proportion of meat to bone is greater in a large bird; left-over stewed pieces may be served in a variety of ways after the first meal of chicken with dumplings; the broth is a good foundation for soup or gravy, and excess fat may be used in the baking of cakes, cookies and pies, as well as in cooking of all kinds where fat is called for.

A bird, bought live weight and dressed at home, means a considerable saving.

Because all poultry meat spoils quickly, it should be kept at refrigerator temperature until it is ready to serve.

Chicken Casserole

1 1/2 cups cooked cut-up chicken
1/2 pound spaghetti
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups chicken stock
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced carrots
Disjoint chicken, barely cover pieces with water, adding 1 1/2 teaspoons salt. Cover and simmer 2 to 4 hours, depending on age and size of bird. When tender, cool and refrigerate quickly. Meanwhile, thicken chicken stock with flour mixed to a paste with a little cold water. Stir until thickened, then add cut-up chicken, celery and carrots. Arrange spaghetti and chicken mixture in greased casserole, topping it with buttered crumbs. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, for 20 minutes.

Kidneys Must Work Well—

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, stinging or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

The Republican campaign to elect Eldon S. Dummit Governor has broken down through sheer weight of impossible promises and changes of position with even-two beds each night, instead of one, would give her twice as good a chance of finding a man. Clements also reminded his audience that Dummit had charged at Ashland, in July, that the present Republican State administration had more "corruption and rottenness" in 4 years than the preceding 12 years of Democratic rule.

The loyalty and faithfulness of Democratic women in the "lean years" of the party was praised by Clements, who said that November victory was certain with the assured support not only of loyal Democrats, both men and women, but an aroused independent vote which was tired of bickering, confusion and uncertainty at Frankfort.

The Democratic platform is clear and specific to everyone in Kentucky but Eldon Dummit, Clements averred. He added that his fellow nominees were among the best qualified men nominated for State offices in a generation and pointed out their special training and experiences for the offices for which they have been selected.

Income Of 145 Million On Burley Crop In Prospect

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Oct. 18 — An income of at least $145,000,000 appears in prospect for Kentucky farmers on their 1947 Burley tobacco crop, on the basis of reports from officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington.

The officials said the government price-support level on this year's crop probably will average $40.32 a hundred pounds, almost seven cents above last year's average. The Agriculture Department estimated Kentucky's 1947 tobacco production at 357,200,000 pounds.

The $145,000,000 estimate, based on the indicated yield and probable average price guaranteed by the government is about $30,000,000 less than Kentucky growers received for the 1946 Burley crop. The 1946 crop totaled about 427,000,000 pounds, however, with this year's production being lower due mainly to the government-ordered acreage reduction. Last year's loan-support rate was $33.60 on the average. The 1946 Burley crop in Kentucky brought an average of $33.94 on actual sale.

This year's government program designed to support grower prices on the Burley crop may be announced next week, the department officials said. The department is required by law to support prices at not less than 90 percent of parity.

Differentials will be set up for the various Burley grades. As in the past, the government will support prices by means of its loan program under which growers may store their crop, and receive 90 percent of parity loans, if they are dissatisfied with market prices. In the past, government loan rates have tended to become minimum prices at the markets.

Daviess Farmer Makes Johnson-Grass Silage
By making use of what most farmers consider a pest, W. J. Foster of Daviess county will feed cattle largely on Johnson grass silage this fall and next winter. County Agent John E. McClure said that 80 percent of his 325 tons of silage is Johnson grass. Lespedeza had been seeded in the field and had made sufficient growth so that some of it was cut along with the Johnson grass. Mr. Foster has one farm where there is a large amount of Johnson grass, said County Agent McClure.

Sees Need For Better Livestock

Now that Kentucky farmers have made big strides in improving the production of corn and other feeds, they should consider further improvement of their livestock, thinks Ernest J. Nesius, an economist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. "After all," he noted, "it is livestock through which the increased crop yields are sold. It might be easy to lose much of the gain made through improving the soil and larger crops by feeding only poor or average livestock. Much of the gain coming through 75-bushel corn could be lost by feeding wormy hogs, low-producing dairy cows, hens that lay only eight dozen eggs a year or sheep that produce only 70 pounds of lamb a ewe."

Mr. Nesius said that in 1946 cows producing 8,900 pounds of milk returned $223 each above feed cost while cows giving 3,500 pounds of milk returned only $91 each. Hens that laid 15 dozen eggs returned $3.75 each while hens that laid only eight dozen returned 80 cents each. "Quality also is an important item in farm profits," Prof. Nesius continued. "The cost of production for high-quality lambs, beef cattle and hogs is little more than for average-quality stock, while the returns are much greater. Investment in high producing and good-quality males for breeding purposes should accompany an investment in soil improvement as the returns a dollar invested can be just as great."

It May Be The Difference Between LIFE and DEATH

No one can foretell when or where sickness or accident may strike. It usually comes swiftly and suddenly — without warning. It differentiates not between rich or poor, young or old, race or creed. It may happen to you or a member of your family — who knows!

When that time comes a hospital may be the difference between life and death.

When that time comes it will mean more to you than anything in the world if there is a modern hospital here at home to serve you — a place where health and hope may be restored through 24-hour-a-day professional care and adequate medical and surgical attention.

When that time comes you will thank God you voted "YES" for the Caldwell County War Memorial Hospital.
